

Entertainment features lumberjack contests & activities

The Hank Peters Lumberjack Show, the longest running professional lumberjack show in America, is the featured attraction at this weekend's Rossville Summer's End Festival.

The show features top lumberjack competitors from around the world who have won numerous state and world championship titles.

Each five-person show lasts 30 to 45 minutes and includes a chain-saw wood carving demonstration, ax throwing contest, crosscut saw vs. chainsaw competition, horizontal log chopping, standing block and/or springboard chopping, log rolling competition, and canoe jousting competition.

The Peters show has its own

40'x24' water show tank.

With 65 years of experience entertaining crowds in the United States and Canada, the Hank Peters Lumberjack Show is filled with fun and excitement.

Three shows are scheduled on Saturday at the Town Park. Times are 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 4 p.m..
