

Canal Days Festival

Top - Tug of war

There was a call-out for children at the Canal Days festival to participate in old-fashioned games, such as this tug of war.

Middle - Sack race

Children had a lot of fun and a few spills as they took part in sack races at Canal Days last weekend.

Bottom - China painting

Carol Oliver demonstrated china painting inside the Canal Conference Center. Comet photos by Jennifer Archibald

Traversing the canal

The Canal Association's temporary canal boat was kept busy during the festival last Saturday and Sunday. This photo was taken from atop the Washington Street bridge. The association expects to have a replica canal boat in a couple of years.

Craftsman at Canal Park

Bob Leavitt of Lafayette made wooden bowls the old-fashioned way at Canal Days last weekend in Delphi. He was one of several artisans at the event.

Muscle Pain?

There's a new way to get relief!

Active Release Techniques (ART) is a state of the art soft-tissue treatment system designed to heal injuries to muscles, tendons and nerves by treating scar tissue adhesions.

ART is the "Gold Standard" for soft tissue injuries, quickly relieving your pain and getting you back on track.

Call Today...Get Relief

Headaches, back pain, carpal tunnel syndrome, knee problems, and tennis elbow are just a few of the many conditions that can be resolved quickly and often permanently with ART.
