On Sept. 12 at 7 p.m., Phyllis Myers, author and historian, will present a program entitled "Bringing Family History to Life." Myers and her son, Len Jr., have co-authored a book called "Annotated Genealogy." During a one-hour workshop, they will share methods of collecting and organizing family stories, home remedies, history, and how to research family genealogy.

Phyllis Moore, curator of the Carroll County Historical Museum, will also be on hand to provide information on resources and records available at the museum to help with genealogy research.

Delphi Public

Fall programming will start with Family Story Time on Sept. 5 at 7 p.m. This is an opportunity for parents and their young children to come and hear a few stories, sing some quiet songs and wind down from a busy day.

Other children's programs will start on Sept. 7 with Baby Lap-Sit at 9:30 a.m., Toddlers at 10 a.m., and Pre-school at 11:30 a.m. Parents or caregivers need to stay with their children during programs. The theme for story time is "cars."

Registration is underway for Tuesday Afternoon Drawing Studio starting Sept. 26 from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Using a variety of mediums, students will learn to develop their artistic style, study composition, contour drawing and how to build volume into drawings. Ages 12 and up are welcome. Register and pick up a supply list at the main desk.

Learn to paint and make a folk banner to grace a front porch or entryway. Choose a fall theme or look ahead to the Christmas Holidays while creating a welcoming scene with acrylic paint on canvas. The class, held Oct. 21 from 9 a.m. to noon, requires registration and a small materials fee.

To register for classes or for additional information about programs, call the library at (765) 564-2929

Flora-Monroe Township

Effective Sept. 5, new library hours began. They are: Monday and Friday, 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. The library will be closed on Wednesdays.

Since 2002, the library has experienced steadily decreasing funding from state sources. Numerous reductions have been made prior to 2006, including operating hours and staff positions. During this time, trustees and staff have worked to keep the library accessible to patrons. However, in order to operate within the means available as estimated by the Department of Local Government Finance, staff hours and business hours must again be reduced. While the Wednesday closing is regrettable, restoring the 10 a.m. opening time on Mondays and Fridays should be an added convenience.

When the doors are open, patrons will have the same quality service they have come to expect. The library board and staff appreciate the support of the community. They encourage residents to remind their state representatives how important libraries are to rural communities, and ask them to protect library funding at the state level. Contact information can be found on the editorial page of this newspaper.

September is Library Card Sign-up Month - a time when the American Library Association, the Flora Library, and libraries across the country remind parents that a library card is the most important school supply of all.

Libraries play an important role in the education and development of children. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning.

The theme of the next story-time is "Grandparents Day." Bring Grandma, Grandpa or someone special. Storytime is Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m.

Indiana fall turkey hunting season to start

Comet staff report

Indiana's fall turkey-hunting season will run Oct. 1 through Oct. 22.

Archery equipment can be used the entire season. Firearms will be allowed from Oct. 18 to Oct. 22. New this fall is the addition of all or portions of 13 counties to the fall turkey-hunting range for hunting with archery equipment.

New counties or portions of counties are highlighted within parentheses below. Counties open to fall turkey hunting with firearms remain the same as for last year's season.

Spring turkey hunting licenses are not valid for fall turkey hunting.

Hunters must have a resident or non-resident fall turkey license and a gamebird habitat stamp privilege unless exempt from needing a license. Indiana comprehensive lifetime hunting or comprehensive youth hunting licenses can also be used to hunt fall wild turkey. Some farmland owners or active military personnel on leave are eligible for resident license exemptions.

Non-resident hunters from states that require an Indiana resident to purchase an additional license to hunt turkeys must also purchase an annual non-resident hunting license to hunt turkeys in Indiana.

This means residents of the adjacent states of Illinois,

Kentucky and Ohio need an annual non-resident hunting license, a non-resident fall turkey license and a gamebird habitat stamp privilege. Wisconsin and Michigan residents are OK with a non-resident fall turkey license and a gamebird habitat stamp privilege.

The fall turkey bag limit is one wild turkey of either sex per fall. Shooting hours are one half hour before sunrise to sunset. Hunters must immediately tag their turkey with a paper stating the hunter's name, address, date of kill and sex of bird.

Turkeys must be taken to a check station within 48 hours. The tag issued by the check station must be affixed to the leg of the turkey through a section of skin or flesh until processing.

Some DNR properties with high hunter use or high spring hunter demand may limit fall turkey hunting. All other spring turkey hunting regulations, such as restrictions on shot sizes, legal weapons, baiting, dogs and electronic calls and decoys, will be in effect for the fall season.

Counties where bow hunting will be allowed in this area are: (Carroll), (Benton), Cass, (Howard), Miami, Pulaski, Tippecanoe, and (White). Hunting licenses are available at most DNR property offices and sporting goods stores, or online at: www.in.gov/dnr/indiana outdoor/. Link to Indiana fall turkey hunt range map at: www.in.gov/dnr/fishwild/.
