They request that gifts be omitted.

Master Gardener class to be offered in county

Comet staff report

Master Gardener classes will be taught in Carroll County for the first time. Beginning Aug. 20, classes will meet on Monday nights from 6:30 to 9:30 at the Carroll County 4-H Community Exhibit Building in Flora. The cost of the class per person will be $75. If a couple wants to share the Master Gardener book, the cost will be $100 for the pair. The costs simply cover the materials that are used in the class and the printed materials that participants receive.

Master Gardeners wanting to attend classes for review will be assessed a $25 fee to cover expenses.

Purdue extension educators and specialists have agreed to teach many of the classes that will give class members a wealth of knowledge about horticulture.

An orientation meeting will be held Aug. 20 at 6:30 p.m. Since Purdue University specialists require a minimum of 15 class members, those planning to attend the class are asked to contact the Purdue Extension/Carroll County office by Aug. 8. Call the office at 765-564-3169 or email pmarcellino@purdue.edu to register for the program.

In week two of Corn Fest 2007, I'm sharing some delectable hot recipes made with Indiana sweet corn. Creamy Corn Chowder is sweet and velvety. Make extra to freeze for the winter ahead (just make sure to leave out the crackers). Corn Pudding is absolutely delicious and different from my standard corn pudding recipes with its addition of vanilla and cornflakes. Trust me. This one is delicious! And, corn soufflé is kicked up with cayenne and Parmesan cheese. Don't be intimidated. This soufflé is simple and no fail.

Happy eating.
Next week: it's a wrap on corn.

Corn Chowder

- 8 ears corn, washed, silks removed
- 5 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 4 T. butter
- 1 medium Vidalia onion, sliced
- 5 C. whole milk
- salt and pepper to taste
- 8 saltine crackers, crushed

Cook corn in a covered pot with enough water to cover for about 10-12 minutes. Remove corn and add onion and potatoes to corn water. Cook slowly, just until potatoes are just tender. Slice corn from cob, add to pot with milk and butter. Bring to a boil, then simmer for 5 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste and simmer for another half hour. Five minutes before serving, add crackers. When corn isn't in season, substitute fresh corn with two cans of creamed style corn.

Corn Pudding

- 12 ears corn, cooked until tender
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 T. flour
- 1/2 C. sugar
- 2 C. milk
- 1/4 C. melted butter
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- Corn flakes

Scrape corn from cooked ears (you'll need 2 cups). In a large bowl, beat egg yolks. Heat milk and add to beaten yolks. Add sugar and flour, mixing well. Add corn, butter, salt and pepper to yolk mixture. In another bowl, beat egg whites until stiff. Gently fold into yolk mixture. Pour into a greased casserole dish and sprinkle with crushed corn flakes. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Corn Souffle

- 2 T. grated Parmesan cheese
- 6 ears corn, cut from cob
- 1 C. milk
- 1/2 C. cornmeal
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
- 2 T. butter
- 4 eggs, separated with whites stiffly beaten
- thyme to taste

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a 1-quart soufflé dish. Coat bottom and sides with 1 T Parmesan cheese. Place half of corn, milk, cornmeal, salt, nutmeg and cayenne in a blender. Puree until smooth. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Stir a small amount of corn mixture into egg yolks, then return to corn mixture, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and fold in egg whites. Pour into soufflé dish and sprinkle with remaining Parmesan and thyme. Bake at 350 degrees for about 35 minutes. Serve immediately.
