Guys and Dolls Jr. comes to Delphi

Delphi Public Library's Stargazers Children's Theatre will present "Guys and Dolls Jr." Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Delphi Community High School Little Theatre. The story is set in the rough and tumble days of New York City and is packed with colorful characters. Pictured (left to right) are: Danielle Kelley as Sarah Brown, the mission doll; Micah Red Elk as Nathan Detroit, always desperate to find a floating crap game; Annie Mose as the flakey song and dance doll with a chronic cold, Adelaide; and Kendall Baker as the high-roller Sky Masterson. Admission is free but donations are appreciated. Friends of the library will offer refreshments at intermission. For information call the library at (765) 564-2929. Comet photo

DNR responds to Lake Freeman crash

Comet staff report

Indiana Conservation Officers are investigating a boat accident July 16 on Lake Freeman. The operator of the Jet Ski Anna M. Crosser of Monticello and a passenger were aboard when the craft approached a dock at a reportedly high rate of speed.

According to Conservation Officer Clay Webb, the ski was traveling around 40 miles per hour when it struck a seawall. Both occupants were thrown from the watercraft and both were wearing life jackets.

Crosser complained of knee and shoulder pain and was taken to White County Hospital. The passenger was unharmed.

Carroll County EMS responded to the call.

Local couple coach students to reserve national championship

Carroll County residents Ryan and Tracie Egger recently coached the Indiana Youth Paint Horse Club Judging Team to a Reserve National Championship title. Youth from across the country competed in the judging contest held at the APHA World Show in Fort Worth, Texas, June 21-July 5. The team placed first in performance and oral reasons and second in halter and over all. Individual honors were awarded to team members Kyrsten Dunham and Jessica Huffer, both Clinton Prairie High School students. Dunham placed fifth in halter and Huffer placed second in performance and third in oral reasons. Team members Brooke Pence of Danville placed third in performance and sixth over all and Morgan Gadd of Fishers placed second in halter, fourth in performance, first in oral reasons and third over all. Pictured are, from left: coach Tracie Egger, Kyrsten Dunham, Brooke Pence, Morgan Gadd and Jessica Huffer. KC Montgomery photo
