"Juanita In Blue Cookbook"

is a Great Depression era cookbook with authentic recipes of the day. The recipe collection is that of Juanita Widner Jervis who was a legendary chef in central Indiana. Growing up in the 1930's, Juanita was a farm wife and mother as well as community leader, nurturing all she came in contact with throughout her life. As a business woman she owned and operated The Rainbow Café which was known for its gourmet pie recipes for nearly 20 years. The recipes (including restaurant quantity specialties) intertwined with vignettes of Juanita's beloved family and life events provide Depression-era recipes and glimpses into rural life in the early twentieth century. The book written by Juanita's daughter Modonna Jervis Wise has loads of local historical information and has the original pie recipes of Lucy Krauss and Juanita Jervis, the pie bakers/owners of The Rainbow in Flora. Order your cookbook today and receive it in time for Christmas call booksurge at 1-866-308-6235 option 6, ask to purchase "Juanita In Blue Cookbook" or call Modonna Jervis Wise 813-782-0246 or mwise@hughes.net
