

Junior high prom pages at the 1956 Flora High School prom dressed for a seaside theme. The prom was held at the Frankfort Country Club. Girls pictured, l-r, are Darlene Frayze, Patty Wagoner, and Arlene Frayze. Boys pictured, l-r, are Steve Collins and Steve Boller.

The four men standing in the entryway at Julius Clothing Store in the early 1950s are, l-r, Roy "Peck" Clark, who worked there; Ralph Pearson, Al Moss, and Jack Mitchell. The store was on Center Street in Flora, where Porcupine Truffle is now located.

The men pictured, from Acacia fraternity at Purdue, all had Carroll County dates in this 1954 photo. The men, l-r, are Larry Jones, Bill Roach, Jim Yount, Bill Carmichael, Ken Clawson, Clarence Eyre, Joe Jones. Their corresponding dates, l-r, are Judy Henderson Walls, Carolyn Coble, Susan Roach Hitchcock, Marilyn Dyson Carmichael, Carol Henderson, Sue Burkhalter Penn, Barbara Schock Jones.

Downtown Flora got new sidewalks around 1950. The work attracted a lot of attention.

Dale's Café, on the corner of Center and Main streets in Flora, was a popular hang-out. Customers pictured here, in the early 1950s, are Dale Day, Bob Heffner, and Dick Sink. Owner Dale Brower is behind the counter.

The Delphinium restaurant was located on North Washington St., Delphi. This photo was taken on July 11, 1950.

Beverly Ayres gave dance lessons in Flora, always culminating with a dance recital in the auditorium at the Flora school. Pictured in a tap dance number in the mid 1950s are (l-r) Kathy Butcher, Cindy Julius, Diane Knapp, Kristen Brim, Sarah Wagoner, and Bonnie Trent.

A Marathon gas station, a short-order restaurant, and a barber shop were located on US 421 S. in Carroll County. This photo was taken around 1955.

Bringhurst landmarks, no longer there, were the elevator and depot (left).

Harold Cook is shown harvesting in the 1950s.

Clawson's Chevrolet tow truck is parked on Union St., Delphi, in 1950.

Edith and Paul Oyler (on tractor) and Carey Oyler, left, are pictured during a 1961 snowstorm.

Delphi High School senior cheerleaders in 1956 were, l-r, Helen Crosby, Lois Young, Barbara Schock, and Deanne Whiteman.